Police seek two in bombing

INDIANAPOLIS — Two men seen leaving a K mart store after a pipe bomb hidden in a toothpaste container exploded in the hand of a 5-year-old girl were sought Tuesday for questioning.

Erin Bower lost her left hand and may recover only partial sight in her left eye as a result of the blast Monday night, physicians at the Methodist Hospital said.

Her mother, Maurine, 31, was slightly wounded by flying bomb fragments, but no others were hurt.

"We're very lucky," said Erin's father, Kevin Bower. "We have a daughter. Many people have gone through much worse than this."

The men wanted for questioning, both believed to be about 20 years old, drew police attention with their nonchalant attitude following the explosion.

"Usually people want to rush to see what's going on. These two gentlemen apparently left while everybody else was going in the opposite direction," said Detective Sgt. Mike Kouns of the Marion County Sheriff's Department.

Police released sketches of the men compiled from employees' descriptions.

AIDS test may be eliminated

SPRINGFIELD — The state's requirement for premarital tests for AIDS and syphilis would be eliminated under a measure approved by an Illinois House committee Tuesday with the backing of state public health officials.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Grace Mary Stern, D-Highland Park, would replace the testing requirements, which have been criticized as costly and inefficient, with a stronger education effort.

The House Judiciary I Committee sent the measure to the full House on a 10-4 vote despite criticism from some GOP lawmakers who said they were insulted that the state Department of Public Health supported the changes in the law.

Ball suffers heart attack

LOS ANGELES — Comedian Lucille Ball suffered an apparent heart attack Tuesday and was rushed into surgery at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, a hospital spokesman said.

Ball, 77, was conscious when she arrived at the hospital about noon with her husband, Gary Morton.

"She is currently undergoing surgery," said Cedars-Sinai spokesman Ron Wise. "Her condition is clearly serious."

The redheaded entertainer and her late former husband, Desi Arnaz, starred in the television show "I Love Lucy," one of the most popular TV shows of all time, from 1951 to 1957. The show is still seen around the world in syndicated reruns.

Miss Ball went solo in 1962 with "The Lucy Show."

Soviet ship to help in oil clean-up

SEWARD, Alaska (AP) — A Soviet ship that can skim oil on the high seas joined the war against the nation's worst oil spill Wednesday, docking in a town named for the man who bought Alaska from Russia for $7.2 million.

The 11,400-ton Vaidogubsky, 425 feet long, steamed 30 up fjord-like Resurrection Bay under a cloudy sky, flying the Soviet hammer and sickle from its stern and an American flag from its towering white superstructure.

It tied up at a railroad dock, its deck strewn with heavy equipment, smoke spewing from its stacks.

About 100 yards away, crews unloaded oil-soaked booms and absorbent material from the clean-up at Nuka Bay, one of the most polluted sites on the southern coast of the Kenai Peninsula.

"It's pretty impressive for a skimmer," said Coast Guard Petty Officer Ken Safford, who snapped photos as the ship arrived a little before 8 a.m. "It's huge."

By midmorning, a stream of tourists were driving up to the dock to take pictures and wave to the crew.

The ship came to Seward for refueling, and probably would be in port all day, said Coast Guard Capt. Rene Roussel.

The oil spilled March 24 by an Exxon tanker is becoming very thick and difficult to deal with as it weathers, Roussel said.

"We don't know how it (the Vaidogubsky) is going to work in the kind of oil we're skimming," he said. "Our goal is to get in the oil. We'll probably use it in Resurrection Bay for awhile."

The Vaidogubsky works with two motorboats that drag a boom to corral the oil. Then two pipes working like 100-foot straws dip into the oil and suck it onto the larger ship.

North portrayed as liar in jury trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oliver North was portrayed to his trial jury Tuesday as a liar who couldn't stop, and as "the Joe Isuzu of government" who followed Hitler's maxim that "the victor will never be asked if he told the truth."

Said prosecutor John Kecker, in final arguments at North's trial: "If Ollie North wanted to get it done, he didn't care if he broke the law."

But, in return, defense lawyer Brendan Sullivan said anyone "who links Colonel North to Adolf Hitler is not credible and should not be believed." He called the comparison outrageous.

"This man is not Adolf Hitler," Sullivan said. "And he doesn't do things like Adolf Hitler."

The defense lawyer was scornful of his opponents, saying everything the government sees North as doing "is through a dirty glass."

Why shouldn't North have thrown papers away, he asked, when they referred to the secret operations of the government.

"In this case," Sullivan told the jury, "the government is off track and running wild, and you should stop it."

North, the former National Security Council aide who was at the center of the Iran-Contra vortex, sat stone-faced at the defense table as prosecutor Kecker methodically tried to dismantle his American-hero image.

"Telling the truth is something you learned at your mother's knee," Kecker said. "Government by deception is not a free government. Government by deception is not a democratic government. Government by deception is not a government under the rule of the law."

Gunshot victim pleads for stricter laws

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A man wounded during a shooting rampage last May in a Chicago suburb urged a state Senate committee considering gun-control legislation Tuesday to ensure "that only law-abiding people have guns."

"I'm an expert at being shot," Philip Andrew told the Senate Judiciary Committee. "And as I rudely learned, it's not too difficult to become an expert in that field in this state."

The committee heard more than three hours of testimony about bills that would make it more difficult to purchase and own handguns in the state and a measure to ban the possession and use of assault rifles.

The panel, however, didn't vote on the legislation, in part because all but one of its Republican members boycotted the session. The boycott was promoted by a dispute with Senate President Philip Rock over proposed changes in Senate rules.

Andrew was one of several people wounded when Laurie Dann, a woman with a history of mental illness, went on a shooting spree at a Winnetka elementary school and nearby homes. An 8-year-old boy was killed in the rampage.

A package of legislation sponsored by Sen. William Marovitz, D-Chicago, would create new requirements for obtaining Handgun Owners Identification card, which is required for anyone purchasing a handgun.

Under the bill, anyone wanting to obtain a handgun ID card would have to provide a photo ID, a provision that the applicant had a record of criminal convictions or mental illness, and increase from the current 60 days.

Marovitz is also proposing a ban on assault weapons.

Paper shortage hits Eastern

By STEPHANIE BURKS
Staff writer

Due to a recent paper shortage, some educational departments are being forced to cut back on the amount of paper used in class.

The shortage is the result of an increase in enrollment, said Douglas G. Bock, chair of the Speech Communication Department.

Enrollment has increased, but the amount of funding for supplies has not, Bock added.

It's not uncommon for departments to run low on supplies toward the end of each year, Bock said, but because funding was not increased to meet the rising needs, departments are being forced to ration supplies.

In order to keep up with enrollment, the speech department increased its size by 20 sections, Bock said. However, "the department's commodities budget was not increased for the added 20 sections," Bock said.

As a result, instructors are restricted on the amounts of handouts they can give students, Bock said. In addition, materials must be copied on both sides of the paper, Bock added.

In order to cope with the shortage, many professors have been giving more essay tests than multiple choice tests, Bock said.

Students provide their own paper for essay tests.

However, the shortage will not affect final exams, Bock said.

Paper has already been set aside for these exams, he added.

The elementary and secondary education department is also experiencing a paper shortage, said Carol Helwig, chair of the department.

"There is need to have an increase in commodities," Helwig said. "We do a lot of copying ... and good quality articles are needed to be copied."

Bock said summer classes, which begin June 13, may be affected by the shortage "a little bit to start with," but a new budget will go into effect in July.

In the meantime, departments may apply for more supplies through their college's dean, Bock said.

At least 47 sailors killed Virginia battleship explosion

Norfolk, Va. (AP) - A huge gun turret packed with gunpowder exploded in flames on the battleship USS Iowa near Puerto Rico on Wednesday, killing at least 47 sailors in one of the worst naval disasters since the Vietnam War.

The death toll from the accident, which happened during a gunnery exercise, "could go higher, but we don't know at this point," said Lt. Cmdr. Steve Burnett, a spokesman for the Atlantic Fleet, based in Norfolk.

He said the number of crewmen injured had not been determined.

Iowa crewmen put out a fire inside the forward turret, which supports three of the ship's nine 16-inch guns, flooded several compartments holding explosives as a precaution, and declared the ship no longer in any danger, said Lt. Cmdr. Chris Baumann, another spokesman for the fleet.

The Iowa rendezvoused at midafternoon with the nearby aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea, which carries three doctors and has full medical facilities, Baumann said. Helicopters from the Coral Sea brought medical equipment to the Iowa and transferred some of the injured to the carrier.

The Iowa will proceed on Thursday to Roosevelt Roads, a Navy base in Puerto Rico, said

Cmdr. Robert Franzmann of the Atlantic Fleet. The 48-year-old ship, one of the four largest in the fleet, is based at Norfolk.

Navy officials were notifying family members personally of the deaths, Baumann said.

The explosion occurred while the ship was taking part in a gunnery exercise about 330 miles northeast of Puerto Rico, said Burnett.

The ship's guns were being test fired and the turret was "full of gunpowder," Baumann said. The 16-inch guns can fire 2,700-pound shells a distance of 23 miles.

A gun turret is normally occupied by 27 people, but can hold up to 60 or 70, Baumann said.

"We don't know how many people were in there at the time," he said.

The training exercise to improve fleet readiness began April 13 and involved 19,000 people aboard 29 U.S. ships, three allied ships and shore-based aircraft, Baumann said.

There were 1,600 people aboard the ship, including Vice Adm. Jeremiah Johnson, commander of U.S. 2nd Fleet.

In Washington, President Bush was asked during a photo session with congressional leaders to comment on the explosion.

Education in year 2000 is explored

By CATHY BEHRENDT
Staff writer

The lecture entitled Higher Education in the Year 2000 and Beyond - It Will Not be Business as Usual explored the ways that universities will shift the emphasis of education.

Holden, of George Washington College in Washington, D.C. said higher education in the year 2000 will not be business as usual. "For those of you who think it will be, you won't be in business," she said to about 50 faculty members Wednesday in the Union Addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

Several reasons for changes in education were cited by Holden, one of which is the major population shift to the South and Southwest. Other factors deemed important are the changes in American family life, increasing awareness of the environment, higher life expectancy rates and increasing college costs.

"Colleges who wish to survive must change their attitudes" regarding the average age of a college student, Holden said.

The Council on Academic Affairs will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Union Addition Arcola/Tuscola Room to discuss proposals for new courses that may be available to students next fall.

EIU 4050, Computer Ethics, was submitted by Robert Barger, from the college of education, and may be offered as a senior seminar if the council approves it.

Also, OED 4850, Special Topics in Occupational Development, is up for discussion and was proposed by Joyce Felstehausen and Tom Boldrey, both of educational development. The course will focus on "new procedures and processes for training," said CAA Chair Terry Weidner.

Another item on the agenda is the discussion of The Study of Undergraduate Education (SUE) report. "Whitley is to present a somewhat restatement of things in the SUE report," Weidner said. Whitley works in the office of academic affairs.

The SUE report was presented to President Rives last September and suggests improvements for the undergraduate curriculum at Eastern. CAA is currently taking the ideas from the report and designing a new general education curriculum.

Furthermore, the council is to consider voting on the already-proposed General Studies 1000 as a requirement for academically dismissed students to enroll in the course as part of their reinstatement process to the university.

Peacefest '89 offers entertainment with a twist

By PENNY N. WEAVER
Staff writer

If you see a few "terrorists" running around campus this weekend, don't be alarmed.

Saturday marks this year's Peacefest, an annual peace-promoting event sponsored by Eastern Illinois Students and Community Concerned About Peace (EISCCAP).

The event, which will run from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. at the Library Quad, has a number of groups scheduled to participate, said Jacque Dean, former president and co-founder of Amnesty International at Eastern.

Among these groups are: Students in Solidarity with the People of Central America (SISPCA), Concerned Citizens of Clark County, who are against the proposed Martinsville toxic waste dump, Pax Christi, and several nuclear freeze groups, said Sara Crerar, vice president of Eastern's Amnesty International chapter.

"It (Peacefest) should be really good," Crerar said. "Everybody's really excited."

Most of the participating groups will have tables and information about their organizations and causes.

For example, SISPCA will feature a "gorilla theater," said Jennifer Berkshire, vice president of the organization. The play performed will be called "A Day in the Life of a Campesino [peasant farmer]," Berkshire said. "It (Peacefest) should be the best one yet," Berkshire added.

Another highlight at the fest, Dean said, will be a cage set up by Amnesty International. In this demonstration, students can pay to have anyone on campus "arrested" by Amnesty members dressed as police.

The person under arrest will be held in the cage for a few minutes, while money is collected for ransom. Money collected from the cage will go to benefit Amnesty, Dean said.

Last year, Amnesty staged a mock kidnapping, Dean said. This year's secret stunt will be even better, she said.

"If people thought that the mock kidnapping last year was exciting, wait 'til they see the special surprises that are planned for this year," Dean said.

Peacefest will also include several speakers, bands - including Eastern's Latin percussion group - and a balloon launch, Crerar said.

Amnesty's balloon launch is designed to spread the group's message, Dean said. Each balloon will contain the name of a "prisoner of conscience" - non-violent people persecuted for their race, religious beliefs, or political convictions, Dean said.

Amnesty obtained the names of these people from all over the world, Dean added. Anyone who finds one of the balloons can write to the person and also let Amnesty know how far the balloon traveled.

In the past, Peacefest has started at noon; however, "we've got so many bands and speakers that we need to start it a little earlier this year," said Ron Keller, president of EISCCAP.

Clark receives a big 'T' for being tardy

Although the Joe Clark lecture, sponsored by the University Board on April 13 was a $3,000 loss and UB is recuperating from their second consecutive mishap after the Bangles concert— the UB deserves some sympathy.

Once a "little, poor, black welfare boy from Newark," Clark is now perhaps the most famous high school principal in the nation. Now hot on the lecture circuit, Clark originally attracted a crowd of about 1,500 students last Thursday.

Editorial The crowd was interested in hearing the controversial Clark, who became famous for patrolling the hallways of Eastside High School in New Jersey with a baseball bat. He is definitely a vivid public speaker. "And I can say that when you leave here tonight, you are either going to love Joe Clark or you are going to hate his guts," he bluntly told the crowd Thursday.

And for the most part, the UB probably doesn't hate his guts, but it certainly doesn't love him.

Clark, who was apparently boggled up in flight complications, got off his airplane when it stopped briefly in Dayton, Ohio. But he wasn't supposed to — the flight was a direct one from Newark, N.J. to Champaign. Clark decided to hail a cab for a four and a half hour trip to Charleston. Unfortunately, he neglected to call the UB or his agents and alert them to his dilemma.

As a result, the UB waited and waited for Clark to appear. He didn't get off the flight in Champaign and the UB had no clue as to his whereabouts. Left without a choice, UB was forced to cancel the event about 15 minutes after it was scheduled to begin. But hold it, just minutes after that decision, Clark finally called the UB, he was on his way and would arrive in 15 minutes.

The original crowd of 1,500 had dwindled down to about 200 and the UB was facing another loss. Presently, the UB and Clark are negotiating to compensate for Clark's tardiness.

No matter what happens, as far as we're concerned, high school principal Joe Clark gets a big, fat "T" for tardy. And it's O.K. with us if he doesn't come back.

TODAY'S QUOTE

Truth above all even when it upsets us and overwhelms us.

- Henri Frederic Amiel

What would you do with $17.25 million?

Somewhere out there, four people are $17.25 million richer today.

Illinois' record $69 million lottery kitty was split by four winners Sunday — two from the Chicago area, one from west Central Illinois and the fourth from Southern Illinois. The winners will each receive about $864,000 every year throughout the next 20 years.

This most recent Illinois lottery, which peaked at $69 million, surpassed the world record, which had been set in California last October. Sharon Sharp, the Illinois lottery director, said lottery sales through Saturday grossed $56.5 million and estimated that sales were as high as 27,000 tickets per minute.

For just $1, we all had a smidgen (the odds of winning were 12.9 million to 1) of a chance to become multi-millionaires. And most of us jumped at it. Here, in Charleston, thousands of people took advantage of that opportunity as lottery vendors reported their highest sales week ever.

The White Hen Pantry, 200 E. Lincoln Ave., grossed about $20,000 in sales last week, including one individual who purchased $2,376 worth of lottery tickets.

"We had that one sale for almost $2,400 but that guy bought them for a big group and they weren't from this area. All I know is that he was out of town," said owner Eric Harris. "The machine started at 6 a.m. Saturday and it ran until drawing time non-stop."

Harris noted there were other individuals who purchased anywhere from $50 to $100 worth of tickets. "But that's not unusual when the jackpot is that large," he said.

Harris, of course, is happy with the heavy sales turnout, because each lottery agent receives 5 percent of their sales and 1 percent on a winning ticket. Last week was the highest in lottery sales in the store's eight-year existence.

He hasn't heard whether or not his store sold any winning tickets, but Harris' store will get at least $1,000 from the weekly lottery sales.

Wilb Walker's Eastside store, 960 18th St., also reported its highest Lotto sales week ever, grossing over $11,000.

"This by far, is the highest," said manager Al Define. "A lot of poeple came in and bought between 100 and 200 tickets."

Another local retailer, who reported a 70 percent increase in lottery sales, said a Greyhound bus from Kentucky pulled in front of his store Saturday, about 50 people got off, bought their lottery tickets and drove back to Kentucky. "It was crazy. I've never seen anything like it. That was probably our biggest week ever," said the retailer, who because of corporate pressure, wishes to remain anonymous.

Now, think about it, you got lucky and won the Lotto. Now you'll got a nice, fat $864,000 check sitting in your mailbox each year. What could you do with that kind of money?

- You could make 864,000 other people $1 richer.
- You could make a bid to purchase Eastern Airlines.
- You could buy all of the textbooks for Eastern students and put a quick end to everything.
- You could put a dome over O'Brien Stadium.
- You could buy about 222,107 cases of Old Milwaukee, have a party under the dome at O'Brien Stadium and ask The Bangles to keep you and all of your friends entertained.
- You could go to the movies and watch Bill and Ted's Excellent Adventure about 314,182 times.
- You'd have to save up for a few years, but you could buy the Coleman Hall Annex and turn it into Central Illinois' largest condom factory complete with a walk-up window for students' convenience.

- Jeff Madsen is a senior reporter and regular columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Your turn

'Two' staffers not a 'several'

Dear editor;

In your April 19 edition, you said that several DEN staffers attended the Senate Forum last week. Well, two is not "several." How can you base endorsements for executive positions on the forum when you didn't even have a quorum of the editorial staff present? You can't! You picked a couple of candidates that promised to look out for the DEN at the cost of the students' best interests. Then you tried to pass them off as being the best candidates for Eastern's campus and students. That was irresponsible; that was wrong.

And secondly, in my first letter, I apparently wrote "senate seats" instead of "executive positions." I apologize for my error. I might suggest, however, that the DEN edit their own work as carefully as they edit mine.

Joseph R. Taylor

PMS research lacked facts

Dear editor;

This letter is in response to David Patterson's article, "PMS ISSUE NOT JUST BLACK AND WHITE."

Unfortunately, the research he claimed to do was obviously outdated. His "theories" were merely myths and opinions. For example, in a recently published pamphlet entitled, "The End of the Menstrual Myth," obtained at Eastern's health service, there is a paragraph which states, "In the past, menstrual pain was believed to be imaginary, all in a woman's head. But today, the cause of menstrual pain has been pin-pointed to recently discovered hormone-like messenger chemicals called prostaglandins. Found in every cell of the body, prostaglandins are among the most potent substances known..."

Further on in the pamphlet another paragraph explains, "Besides the excess prostaglandins previously mentioned, the high levels of estrogen, which increase before menstruation, may cause moderate to severe headaches..."

A simple walk over to health services would cover up all the "Gee, in Mr. Patterson's misinformed article. Women have a hard enough time dealing with themselves during their menstrual cycles. Women definitely are NOT looking for male sympathy; only a little understanding."

Play celebrates Jacques Brel

By TONY CAMPBELL
Activities editor

Dramatists continually search for an unusual plot to captivate the audience, but Jacques Brel found the answer to the search by simply including no plot at all in his productions.

"Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris," written by Jacques Brel in early 1968, has no story line. Through his innovative style, Brel opened the door for other musicals such as "Hair."

Performances of the influential play will be at 8 p.m. nightly in the Doudna Fine Arts Center starting Friday, and Sunday matinee performances will be at 2 p.m. Admission to the show is $5 for adults and $3 for students. Tickets are on sale at the University Ticket Office. The play will continue through April 28.

E.T. Guidotti, director of the production and acting chair of the theatre arts department, said the Brel production was selected as a celebration to Brel, who died of cancer at the age of 29. "The first day of performance is the 10th anniversary of the day he died."

Brel never received much acclaim in America, but he was scheduled to perform at Carnegie Hall though the performance was soon canceled after Brel was diagnosed as having terminal cancer, Guidotti said.

Preparation for the performance was not an easy task. Guidotti said the production required much research and the help of a French instructor for translation. "Since each character tells a different story," Guidotti said, "each piece (of the set) would have to be designed individually." But instead of dealing with the confusion and hassle of several sets, the set was constructed to resemble a concert stage in the form of a band shell.

Planning for the production began over Christmas Break, Guidotti said, and the cast has been rehearsing since before Spring Break.

Guidotti said the productions definitely show Brel as anti-war, pro-love, and hedonistic.

Hearing for senior delayed again

The preliminary hearing for an Eastern senior arrested on drug charges was delayed for a second time because the defense attorney is out of town.

Chris Hanken, who was arrested March 17 and charged with unlawful delivery of a controlled substance, was scheduled to appear in court Monday.

The preliminary hearing has been rescheduled for this Monday for Hanken, who was arrested in front of Buzzard Education Building in relation to the delivery of cocaine.

In other police action, junior

Albert McMillen, 21, reported Tuesday his bicycle was stolen from the hallway outside his apartment at 248 Jackson Ave.

The bicycle, a red Schwinn 12-speed valued at $250, was taken at an unknown time, according to a police report.

Silly kinda guy led a very Silly Party

REBECCA GAMBILL

Features editor

He promised nothing;
they elected him.

He gave nothing; they impeached him.

In 1985, former Student Body President Joe Butler did just that. He and his Silly Party campaigned on a platform of graft and corruption, and they did it all for fun. He never expected to win.

That year only one party, the Advantage Party, was on the ballot for student government elections. Butler, a philosophy major, saw this as one of many negative factors concerning student government. In Butler's opinion, student government hadn't done anything for him or for the university.

"As I saw it, student government was basically a worthless organization," Butler said. He could have simply voiced his opinion throughout campus or even at Student Senate meetings, but said "I could have just been another crazy on campus." So, he ran for student body president.

"Graft, corruption, decadence and lies were my platform," Butler said. According to the 1985 Warbler, his platform consisted of:

"Appoint all Silly Party members to high government positions
"Use student funds for a week-long retreat to Acapulco for himself and the woman companion of his choice
"Bring prayer and human sacrifice back to the classroom"

"Pay $1 to all those who voted for him
"Remember none of none of his campaign promises.

With these promises, chances for winning would be slim under normal circumstances. But because Butler and his Silly followers got out, met the students and motivated them to vote, he won the election.

"My election was different. A lot of people came out to support us, whether they voted for me or not," Butler said.

Sheila Butler, currently a senior graphic design major and Butler's sister, felt Butler was elected because he put himself in the spotlight. "Everyone knew him; he was in a band. He made himself well-known, but he never expected to win.

"They voted for the person who made the most publicity, and that's what people do here," Sheila said.

At the time of the election, Sheila was a senior in high school in Flossmoor where the Butlers live, and would come to Eastern to visit Joe during and after the election. Sheila said their family "thought it was funny. If what he was doing was so bad, he wouldn't have gotten elected."

Sheila said the name of the party was a spin-off of Monty Python. "Our family all loves Monty Python. That's where it (the name and many of the campaign tactics) originated from."

During the campaign, the Silly Party spent about $50 for materials, Joe said. The money was spent on such items as a yo-yo, squirt gun, paper money, mimeographing and a keg of beer, he added.

Other Silly tactics included a rally on the library quad where Joe and his "hard core, punk" band (NO) DUI sang the Silly song and brought in the votes. It was reported that 200 people attended that rally, but Joe said, "It was well over 200."

"A lot of the stuff he was doing was making fun of his opponent," Sheila explained. His opponent, Glen Good, spent more than $1,000 on the campaign.

After being elected student body president by what was called "a virtual landslide," Joe said he went out and celebrated. "They said he was drinking, but who wasn't," Sheila said in Joe's defense.

The Silly campaign turned to a Silly senate term as Butler continued his acts of graft and corruption. He gave outrageous answers to serious questions, and appointed his ministers of peace, love, plenty and peace to assist his Silly administration. He even gave a dramatic reading of Naked Lunch at a senate meeting.

Then, the impeachment.

At a leadership conference in the spring, Joe along with Senator Matt Geber damaged a hotel room with duck tape, toothpaste and blood and broke a lamp and a chain lock. The two admitted to these atrocities during a senate hearing on the matter. The result was that Joe was no longer student body president.

The damage was approximately $25, and "Joe paid for it. He was responsible enough to pay for it," Sheila said.

Joe felt the senate and administration was looking for something to use against him. "They disliked me from the first. I just wasn't their style of person," Joe claimed.

Sheila said no one (senate or administration) wanted him in the first place. "After the election, when people found out that he was serious, and he didn't do anything (worthwhile) just like he promised, they didn't like that. They were looking for something to impeach him with.

"They kicked him out because he wasn't doing anything. But that's what he promised to do."

Sheila entered Eastern as a freshman in the fall of 1986, just months after the impeachment ordeal. During her years at Eastern, Sheila said she has heard a lot about her brother and had a few confrontations on the subject.

"Some of his friends still talk about him here. I would see people in bars, and they would complain about Joe. I would respond by asking did you vote for him, and they would say yeah. They're insulting themselves right there."

Although Joe is older, works at the Fairmont Hotel in Chicago and is applying to law schools, he said he'd still do it all again.

"I'd go all the way this time. At the end, I was just a few months away from graduation, and I just didn't care anymore," Joe explained. He said if he had had more time, he would have appealed the decision and fought it all the way.

Sheila feels that the student body had fun during the campaign and showed a true interest in the elections that year. "He attracted a crowd, and the people had fun. He's a nutty kind of guy."

Butler just couldn't understand why election officials wouldn't let him write "Vote Silly" on the sidewalk on the library quad.

season, is poised to take over at the center spot the graduating Sean O'Brien. Spoo said that Schwager has also been working out at offensive guard.

"He's been impressive at guard and center," Spoo said. "He's really shown some promise."

Jurkovic injured

Eastern's all-everything defensive tackle John Jurkovic will miss the remainder of the spring practice because of a finger injury. Earlier this week, Jurkovic had surgery performed on his little finger to repair a torn ligament, which was suffered during practice on Monday.

"It's just a minor thing," Spoo said of Jurkovic's injury.

Jurkovic, who recovered from a knee injury a year ago, had a wildly successful season last fall, being named Associated Press First Team All-America and Gateway Conference Defensive Player of the Year.

Popp prospectus

Senior offensive tackle Dave Popp, the only legitimate pro prospect in Eastern football's graduating class, recently went to New York for a pre-NFL draft evaluation.

Spoo said that he wasn't sure which team was interested in the 6-6, 285-pound Libertyville native, but that it had to be a good sign for Popp to be asked to attend.

The first four rounds of the NFL draft begin Sunday at noon. The remaining rounds will be on Monday.

Smith, Cards boot away 2nd straight

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rafael Belliard has turned from a lightweight to a heavyweight at the plate this season.

Belliard drove in two runs with a double and a single Wednesday and Pittsburgh capitalized on an Ozzie Smith error for the second straight day as the Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals 7-5.

"Rafael's been hitting balls in the strike zone," Pirates manager Jim Leyland said.

R.J. Reynolds, who platoons in the outfield, and backup catcher Tom Prince also had two RBIs for the Pirates.

"We felt all winter we had a better bench than we had a year ago," Leyland said. "I think it's showing."

Smith, considered the best fielding shortstop in the game, made a throwing error during a three-run rally by Pittsburgh in the fourth inning. On Tuesday night, the Pirates scored the winning runs when Smith booted a grounder with two outs in the ninth.

Pittsburgh scored two runs in the eighth Wednesday to take a 7-1 lead, but the Cardinals rallied for four runs with two outs in the bottom of the inning.

After St. Louis loaded the bases on two walks and a single by Milt Thompson, Bob Walk forced in a run by walking Jose Oquendo.

"All of the sudden I didn't have a lot of arm strength left," Walk said. "I couldn't get the

Two faces in Gateway Jay Taylor shines as all-star

Two Gateway Conference schools, Indiana State and Wichita State, have hired new men's basketball coaches. Jay Riek, a three-year Sammons assistant, has been named to the head coaching post. Andi Myers moved up to an administration position at Indiana State.

Myers, who held an 85-109 record in seven years, is now the assistant athletic director for Wichita State's women's sports. "When I returned to my alma mater seven years ago, my goal was to restore college basketball," Myers said. "I felt I did."

Riek is a former Drake player and member of the Iowa High School Basketball Hall of Fame. At Wichita State, Linda Hargrove takes the position held by Karen Harden, who resigned last year.

Harden had a 63-98 mark in seven years at Wichita State. Hargrove had coached at Wray County (Kan.) Community College for 17 years, compiling a 326-112 record. "I've been very happy for the last 17 years, but Wichita State has always been an attractive job in my mind," Hargrove said.

Simpson wins

Former Eastern goalkeeper Mark Simpson made only his seventh start of the season for the Chicago Power of the American Indoor Soccer League Sunday, and came out with a win. The win was extra-special because it tied the Power's best-of-five championship series with the Canton Invaders at a game apiece.

The Power won 8-6 at Canton's Memorial Civic Center.

able to back and redeem himself."

In light of the way his squad played, Callahan said the Panthers were lucky to gain a split.

"You play the way we did for 14 innings, you're lucky to get a win," Callahan said.

The Salukis scored in the first inning after Doug Shields hit a solo home run. But Eastern tied it in the bottom of the inning when right-fielder Jeff Jetel stroked a double to score Matt Legaspi.

Neither team scored for the next three innings as Panther right-hander Ryan Edwards dueled with Saluki hurlers Sean Bergman and Chris Bend.

Jetel and first baseman Dana Leibovitz knocked in one run apiece in the fifth to give Eastern a 3-1 advantage. Jetel, who came into the twinbill batting .370, went 2-3 in the second game with two runs batted in.

Darin Kopac (4-2) got the win in relief of Edwards. The junior right-hander pitched the final three innings of the game.

Eastern's pitchers, however, attempted to cool the bat of Shields to no avail.

Shields, coming into the doubleheader hitting .414, bombed the Panther staff, getting five hits in eight at bats with two home runs and four runs batted in.

An accurate description of Wednesday's first game would be a street fight. The two teams slugged it out with Southern knocking the Panthers down with a seven-run third inning, and finishing them off with a three-run knockout in the seventh.

Eastern drew first blood in the bottom of the first when Legaspi was hit by a pitch and then proceeded to steal second. Steil then walked before Jetel singled to load the bases.

Legaspi and Steil scored on successive ground outs before right fielder Julius Smith punished Saluki starter Ryan McWilliams with a 360-foot shot to right field.

A slew of pitchers hurled for Eastern in the first game with starter Mike Deese (3-5) taking the loss. Scott Nelson, Mike Conner and Jim Sweeney all tried to quell the Saluki attack with riddled the pitchers for 15 hits.

Eastern managed eight hits, with Goodley and Smith pitching in two RBI's apiece.

Shane Gooden notched the win for Southern Illinois, as he pitched the final two and 2/3 innings of the first game.

"The pitching in the first game was not good, and we did not execute well," Callahan said. "It looked like we weren't even coached out there."

Callahan said coming away with a victory makes the first game loss easier to take.

"There is some consolation that as poorly as we played we came back to win the second game," Callahan said.

Eastern will now prepare for this weekend's matchup with Association of Mid-Continent Universities Gray Division rival Western Illinois. Western is leading the division with a 3-1 record; the Panthers are 2-2.

Blue-Gray game adds some pop

By DAVID BRUMMER
Staff writer

Make way for the Cola Bowl.

Eastern football's annual Blue-Gray scrimmage, held each year at the end of spring practice, will have some extra fizz this year.

Pepsi will be sponsoring this year's public scrimmage, set for 7:30 p.m. April 28 at O'Brien Stadium.

"We're trying to bill it as Pepsi vs. Diet Pepsi," Eastern coach Bob Spoo said.

Although details are not final, Spoo said that teams probably be divided between Pepsi and Diet Pepsi, with the seniors-to-be — equally split between the two teams — drafting the remaining underclassmen to fill out each roster.

"It's (senior players drafting) still one of our options," Spoo said. "It depends on how many players you have around."

This will be the first time that Pepsi will be sponsoring Eastern's Blue-Gray scrimmage and it will be the first Blue-Gray game to be played at O'Brien. In recent years scrimmages were held at Charleston High School's Trojan Hill.

Eastern Sports Information Director Dave Kidwell said that there are special promotions being planned in connection with Pepsi for the scrimmage, but that nothing had been finalized.

Spoo said that his team is also scheduled to scrimmage this Friday at O'Brien and that the public is invited.

Quarterback Eric Arnold, who has participated in only non-contact drills this spring, will not play in the scrimmage. Arnold, Eastern's starting quarterback, is still rehabilitating a knee after injuring it in a 45-8 loss at Western Illinois last season.

Spoo said that he is counting on Arnold to be ready to play next fall.

In Arnold's place for the scrimmage will be sophomores Lee Borkowski, Mike Sahm and Quinn Steiner, who all figure to see considerable action in the scrimmage.

One of the priorities Spoo had this spring was developing a capable back-up to Arnold and Spoo is confident that he has.

"They're (back-ups) all doing a good job," Spoo said. "I feel a lot better about it (than before spring practice started)."

Offense gaining ground

Spoo said that, despite his team's ability to practice outside as much as he would like, the one-back offense transition has been smooth.

"We've got most of the formations in," Spoo said. "There's not many more things we can do, except (implementing) things like motion."

Although Spoo said that the offense is nowhere near the point he hopes it to be in the fall, he is satisfied with the progress.

"It's just a matter of ironing out all the rough spots," Spoo said.

All of Eastern's five allowed non-contact practices have been used, according to Spoo. He hopes to be able to scrimmage outside on Thursday and Friday, which would leave the Panthers four days next week to work in three more contact practices. Those practices, along with the Blue-Gray game would mean that Eastern would have used all 15 allotted padded practices.

"I'm really pleased with the way things have gone," Spoo said. "I think we're getting a lot accomplished. You certainly can't fault the players' intensity."

Spoo specifically noted the progressive of sophomore offensive lineman Tod Schwager.

Key Gateway meet next for 7-6 Lady Panthers

By AL LAGATTOLLA
Staff writer

Seeking to stay over the .500 mark, Eastern's women's tennis team will travel to face Gateway Conference rival Bradley Tuesday in a rematch of the squad's fall meeting, in which the Lady Braves won 7-2.

"It's (Bradley) a team that we need to be able to beat," said Eastern coach Grant Alexander. "It will help us in the conference seeding."

Last season, the Lady Panthers played Bradley three times, winning twice and losing once.

The Lady Braves have defeated Eastern twice in a row, one of the times coming in last season's seventh-place conference match-up.

"They are definitely better than last year," Alexander said. "I was surprised at how good they were (in the fall)."

Eastern, 7-6, comes off what Alexander calls its weakest performance of the season, a 5-4 loss to Gateway runner-up Southern Illinois, which was playing without some key performers.

"I think that we've got a chance to win at every position," Alexander said. "Bradley is at a different level than Southern."

While the Salukis are among the elite of the Gateway, the Lady Braves are among the middle of the conference pack, much like the Lady Panthers.

"If we beat them we would be in a favorable position at the conference meet," Alexander said. "We may be seeded against Northern Iowa."

The Lady Panthers defeated Northern Iowa 9-0 earlier this year.

To defeat Bradley, the Lady Panthers will have to change their style from the way they played this fall.

"Last time we didn't keep the ball in play long enough," Alexander said. "We're a team of scramblers."

The meet with Bradley will be a rematch of sorts for No. 4 singles player Angel Hoffek.

The Lady Braves' No. 3 doubles tandem won the Gateway championship over runners-up Hoffek and then-partner Beth Stuckey, who is student-teaching in Champaign.

"It should be interesting to see how Dawn (Brannon) and I do against the team that beat Beth and I at conference," Hoffek said.

Hoffek and Brannon are 12-1 on the season, while Hoffek sports an identical mark at No. 4 singles.

Hoffek, one half of the Gateway championship No. 3 doubles champions a year ago, has always excelled in doubles play, but her goal in singles was to remain over .500.

"I'm a lot surprised," Hoffek said of her play at singles.

Hoffek said that the meet might come down to which team can outlast the other.

"It's going to be one of those 'who can get the ball over one more time' matches," she said. "We're probably equal in ability."

But the Lady Braves do have some factors in their favor.

"They're at an advantage because they are playing at their home court," Hoffek said. "But if we want it bad enough, I think that we can beat them."

The match is Eastern's last away match before the conference championship.

Eastern will close out its regular-season schedule Monday against Illinois State, a team that took sixth in the Gateway a season ago.

Steil erases four errors with big hit against SI

By BILL LOOBY
Staff writer

Chris Steil was having a pretty tough day until the seventh inning of the second game at Monier Field Wednesday.

The junior second baseman, who committed four errors in the two games, stroked a two-run single to left field to salvage a split with Southern Illinois. The Panthers won the nightcap 5-4. Eastern dropped the first game 13-7.

In the second game, the Salukis scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth — an inning in which Steil committed two errors — to vault past the Panthers 3-0.

But Eastern, 18-14, wasn't going to let Southern get out of Charleston with a sweep.

In the bottom of the final frame, designated hitter Dan Briese reached first on an error by Saluki second baseman Tim Davis. Eastern coach Bob Callahan then lifted Briese for pinch runner Scott Nelson. Following a strikeout on a failed bunt attempt by third baseman Greg Goodley and a fly ball by Matt McDevitt, shortstop Brent Howard and center-fielder Matt Legaspi walked to set the stage for Steil's heroics.

Steil said although he was frustrated with his fielding woes, he did not want to let it upset him at the plate.

"I just wanted to hit the ball hard, anything that close was going to get hit," Steil said.

The Springfield (Griffin) native said, "I wouldn't have been there (situation) if I would have made those errors (in the sixth inning). Now I was going right (in the field); I should have taken a fork out there."

Callahan said Steil "just had one of those days where Chris just booted one or two and his confidence was shot. That's the funny thing about baseball, he was

Kompare garners accolades

Eastern's soccer captain David Kompare says that he can be a force on the field, too, as he gained second-team All-Academic status in the Association of Mid-Central Universities in each of the last three seasons.

"I'm very happy with David," Eastern coach Gary Mosnia said. "It's an honor to get this, and he deserves it."

Kompare scored six goals and had four assists this past season as he played mainly midfielder and some action at forward.

The junior was named captain along with junior fullback Greg Muhr this season.

Mosnia is proud, not only of Kompare, but with his own team which he says sports several performers with GPAs above 3.0.

"There are several players that have earned consideration to be very good marks," Mosnia said.
